

Eastern Wall of City

The Eastern Gate (Golden Gate) and the Lions Gate (Stephen's Gate) are located in the east wall of the Old City.

Muslims are buried here because this is where they believe the resurrection will take place and the Messiah will judge mankind. Jews are buried on the other side of the Kidron because they also believe the Messiah will judge mankind here.

The south end of the east wall. This is the remains of an arch similar to Robison's arch on the other side.

The Golden Gate (Eastern Gate) sealed by Muslims to discourage Jewish leaders from entering as a Messiah
